1. This is an action for damages and declaratory and injunctive relief against Defendants for abuse of process, harassment invasion of privacy and intentional infliction of emotional distress arising out of Defendants' improper attempt to coerce Plaintiffs Philip Burgess and MicroBilt to settle separate Virginia federal litigation by filing frivolous and unfounded civil litigation against them and against him in this District and by employing process servers to make repeated and harassing attempts to serve Plaintiff Philip Burgess with process in the aforementioned frivolous litigation at his Princeton home, causing fear and emotional distress to Plaintiffs Michelle Burgess, Alexandria Burgess and the minor children of Philip and Michelle Burgess.

GENERAL ALLEGATIONS

Background – Virginia Litigation

17. There are pending in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia (“EDVA”), four (4) inter-related matters that are relevant to this action:

(a) Williams v. Big Picture Loans, LLC, Docket No. 3:17-cv-461 (“Big Picture Litigation”);

(b) Renee Galloway, et als. v. Big Picture Loans, LLC, et als., Docket No. 18-cv-00406-REP (“Galloway Action”);

(c) Williams, et als. v. MicroBilt Corporation, et als., Docket No. 3:19-cv-00085- REP, (“Virginia Williams Action.”); and

(d) Lenora Glover, et als. v. MicroBilt Corporation, Docket No. 1:19-cv-01337-RDA-JFA (“Glover Action”).

18. One or more of the Defendants represent the plaintiffs in all four (4) of the aforementioned actions in the EDVA.

19. Two of the aforementioned actions named MicroBilt as a defendant and are frivolous attempts to compel and coerce MicroBilt and Philip Burgess into cooperating with the plaintiffs and their counsel (Defendants here) in prosecuting their claims against Matt Martorello, the principal defendant in those cases and, in the process, forcing MicroBilt and its employees to spend excessive amounts of time, effort and counsel fees in motion practice and in responding to burdensome discovery demands in all four of the EDVA actions.

20. Both the Galloway Action and the Big Picture Litigation purport to be class actions alleging that the defendants violated the federal RICO statute and various State usury laws by operating so-called “rent-a-tribe” payday lending schemes.

21. In the Virginia Williams Action, the plaintiffs allege that the defendants violated the Fair Credit Reporting Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1681, by unlawfully requesting and obtaining their consumer credit reports and providing them to defense counsel in the Big Picture Litigation in order to gain a litigation advantage in that action.

22. Plaintiffs Philip Burgess and MicroBilt were named as defendants in the Virginia Williams Action.

23. Philip Burgess was alleged to have procured plaintiffs' consumer reports from MicroBilt and provided them to one of the defense attorneys in the Big Picture Litigation.

24. However, Philip Burgess, a New Jersey citizen with no minimum contacts in the Commonwealth of Virginia, was dismissed without prejudice from the Virginia Williams Action for lack of personal jurisdiction by Order entered February 19, 2020.

25. MicroBilt's similar motion to dismiss the Virginia Williams Action was denied.

26. As discovery deadlines and compliance dates in the Galloway Action and the Virginia Williams Action began to draw near, Defendants began to pressure Plaintiffs Philip Burgess and MicroBilt to settle the Galloway Action and the Virginia Williams Action.

27. Defendants' pressure tactics included:

- (a) Serving a Motion to Compel in the Glover Action;
- (b) Serving numerous overlapping and conflicting unilateral notices of depositions for employees of MicroBilt across multiple states in the Virginia Williams Action and the Glover Action, to wit:

In the Glover Action: Notices of Deposition for:

- Walter Wojciechowski who works in NJ and lives in PA in the GA office June 3, 2020;
- Melissa Dennis in the GA office June 4, 2020;

- Carol Nowell in the GA office June 4, 2020; and
- Franklin Levin, Esq., who works in NJ and lives in PA in the GA office June 5, 2020.

In the Virginia Williams Action: Notices of Deposition for:

Melissa Dennis in the GA office June 9, 2020;

Ramesh Venkataramani in his home in MA June 10; and Walt Wojciechowski in his home in PA June 11.

(c) MicroBilt's GA and NJ offices were and are presently closed in light of the COVID-19 pandemic, and all employees are working from their homes to the extent possible.

(d) On or about June 8, 2020, Defendant Len Bennett, counsel for plaintiffs in the Virginia Williams Action, represented to Judge Payne in that action that Philip Burgess was an old friend of Matt Martorello, the principal defendant in the EDVA litigation; that Philip Burgess owned MicroBilt; then that he did not own MicroBilt; and finally that Philip Burgess had recently sold MicroBilt while that action was pending. Those statements are inaccurate and pure fabrication, and in fact resulted in Judge Payne requiring that MicroBilt provide a declaration setting forth the ownership history of MicroBilt and the employment relationship with Philip Burgess, which will be provided to Judge Payne in camera. Defendant Bennett made the false statements in order to create a false impression in Judge Payne that Philip Burgess has some business or personal connection with Matt Martorello. In truth and in fact, Plaintiff Philip Burgess has never had an ownership interest in any business owned by Mr. Martorello, and the only "relationship" that ever existed is that Martorello owned companies that were customers of MicroBilt and affiliates.

28. When Defendants' pressure tactics against Plaintiffs Philip Burgess and MicroBilt failed to coerce them into settling the Galloway and Virginia Williams Actions, the Defendants resorted to the tortious conduct alleged in this action.

Defendants' Tortious Conduct in New Jersey

29. On May 11, 2020, seven (7) months after Magistrate, now District Judge Novak in the EDVA recommended the dismissal of Philip Burgess from the Virginia Williams Action, the Defendants filed a Complaint in this Court against Philip Burgess entitled Lulu Williams, et als. v. Philip Burgess, Docket No. 3:20-cv-5781 (FLW/DEA) (the "New Jersey Williams Action.")

30. The Complaint in the New Jersey Williams Action makes the same allegations against Philip Burgess as those in the Virginia Williams Action, to wit, that he "procured" plaintiffs' credit reports from MicroBilt and forwarded them to one of the defense attorneys in the Big Picture Litigation in violation of the Fair Credit Reporting Act.

31. However, Defendants knew or should have known that there is no legal basis for the Complaint in the New Jersey Williams Action because, among other things, Philip Burgess is not, as alleged, a "user" of consumer data within the meaning of the Fair Credit Reporting Act and because the information that Philip Burgess allegedly "procured" was not "governed data" within the meaning of the Fair Credit Reporting Act.

32. On Friday, May 15, 2020, a female process server, ("Process Server No. 1") approached the front door of the Burgess residence in Princeton at approximately 7:54 p.m. and rang the doorbell a few times. Plaintiff Michelle Burgess answered the door said that Philip Burgess was not there and Process Server No. 1 left. The incident was video recorded by the Burgess family's security system.

33. Present in the Burgess residence at the time, and at all times relevant to this Complaint, were Plaintiffs Michelle Burgess, Alexandria Burgess, Minor 1, 2 and 3.

34. The next day, Saturday, May 16, 2020, a heavy-set male process server ("Process Server No. 2") approached the front door of the Burgess residence in Princeton, at approximately 3:17 p.m., rang the doorbell and, without waiting for anyone to respond, began intentionally banging on the picture windows on the front of the house. The incident was video recorded by the Burgess family security system.

35. The actions of Process Server No. 2 as alleged, caused, and were intended to cause Plaintiffs Michelle Burgess, Alexandria Burgess, Minor 1, 2 and 3 to fear possible home invasion, robbery and assault and caused those Plaintiffs to suffer emotional distress.

36. When Plaintiffs Alexandria Burgess and Minor 1 answered the door, Process Server No. 2 asked if Philip Burgess was home. When Plaintiffs said he was not, Process Server No. 2 threw a set of papers at them into the Burgess' residence and walked away.

37. Process Server No. 2 was not wearing a mask or gloves, did not maintain a minimum of six-feet of social distancing between himself and the Burgess Plaintiffs (and in fact, came within approximately a foot of them), did not encase the papers he threw at them in plastic or other impermeable covering and generally did not practice any recommended practices for process servers during the current Covid-19 pandemic shutdown. See generally <https://www.serve-now.com/articles/2886/a-guide-to-safely-resuming-service-of-process>.

38. The papers in question, which Process Server No. 2 threw at the Burgess Plaintiffs, were copies of a letter from Defendants Leonard Bennett and Consumer Litigation Associates, LLC and the Summons and Complaint in the New Jersey Williams Action.

39. On Monday, May 18, 2020, Philip Burgess received a copy of a Proof of Service purporting to state that the Summons and Complaint in the New Jersey Williams Action was properly served on May 16, 2020.

40. On Wednesday, May 20, 2020, Process Server No. 2 returned and again approached the front door of the Burgess' Princeton residence and again began intentionally banging on the picture windows in the front of the house without first ringing the doorbell or knocking on the front door. The incident was video recorded by the Burgess family security system.

41. The actions of Process Server No. 2 as alleged, caused, and were intended to cause Plaintiffs Michelle Burgess, Alexandria Burgess and Minors 1, 2 and 3 to fear possible home invasion, robbery and assault and caused those Plaintiffs to suffer emotional distress.

42. When a Burgess family housekeeper answered the door, Process Server No. 2 handed her: (a) a document subpoena addressed to Philip Burgess, returnable June 1, 2020; and (b) a deposition subpoena addressed to Philip Burgess, returnable June 3, 2020, both of which were captioned in the Virginia Williams Action and signed by an attorney at Defendant Consumer Litigation Associates, LLC.

43. Again, Process Server No. 2 did not wear a mask or gloves, did not maintain a minimum of six-feet of social distancing between himself and the Burgess family housekeeper, did not encase the papers he served in plastic or other impermeable covering and generally did not practice any recommended practices for process servers during the current Covid-19 pandemic shutdown. See generally <https://www.serve-now.com/articles/2886/a-guide-to-safely-resuming-service-of-process>.

44. On Thursday, May 21, 2020, a female process server (“Process Server No. 3”) drove up to the Burgess’ residence in Princeton and spoke with Plaintiff Michelle Burgess outside the front of her home. The incident was recorded by the Burgess residence security system.

45. Process Server No. 3 handed her a copy of a deposition subpoena addressed to Philip Burgess, returnable June 5, 2020, captioned in the Galloway Action, and signed by Defendant Bennett of Defendant Consumer Litigation Associates, LLC.

46. At all times relevant to this Complaint, Process Servers Nos. 1, 2 and 3: were employed by the Defendants acting in concert and for their mutual benefit; were acting as the duly authorized agents of the Defendants; and, upon information and belief, were acting on the instructions of one or more of the Defendants.
